

On even terms until late in the second quarter, the teams saw the game decided by passes. A Palm Beach fumble on their own 10 gave Pahokee the ball just before the half ended, and Sanders passed to Weeden and Unwin for nine yards. Cowen going over the center for the touchdown. Sanders passed to Unwin for the point.

In the third quarter Pahokee stopped a Wildcat march by intercepting a pass on the Palm Beach 47, and on the next play Cowen slipped off tackle and ran for 25 yards. The point was converted on a pass. The fourth quarter touchdown came after Pahokee drove to the Palm-Beach 23, where Sanders passed to Cowen for a touchdown.

AN ANNUAL PROBLEM

As bleak chill winter descends on less favored parts of the nation South Florida begins to be bothered with the same variety of those "gimme" boys—the fellows who stop in and touch you for a little money.

Probably the most troublesome of such itinerants are those who have something to say regarding subscription, an advertising scheme, or some alleged charitable cause. But many communities this class of snowbird is taken care of by business men's bureaus or chambers of commerce which check up on the merits of their money raising proposition.

Not so easily disposed of is another class of hand-out seeker—the man who comes into the office with a story of being stranded down here with his wife and children hungry or some such pitiful tale. Usually this type doesn't ask much—only a quarter for a meal or maybe a half dollar. You don't mind taking a chance on being paid for a sucker and being a good applicant—until they begin to get numerous as they do every winter season.

Even in that case the average person with a little sense to spare doesn't want to turn down someone actually in need. But who are the real needy and who are the chiselers? Referring a man who is in real need of help to some welfare department isn't always practicable; if he really is in distress he needs help and the help he needs usually is a small item.

It would be fine if some local agency could be designated to investigate this type of applicant; give him immediate aid if he is deserving and turn him out of town as a panhandler if that is what he is found to be.—Lake Worth Herald.

EDUCATION FOR FREEDOM

Let freedom ring, on every day, as on Saturday, November 11, this day and also the final day of Education week, dedicated appropriately in the program to Education for Freedom.

Freedom is the living heart of the American Way of life.

But we cannot have freedom by talking about it or by listening to speeches about it on Armistice day and the Fourth of July: We must live freedom.

In practice, we must be passionately free and zealous to guard the freedom of our neighbors.

Let no one say, unchallenged, that freedom is a dead ideal in America, that patriotic and fraternal societies give but perfunctory service to it, in ritualistic honor to its symbols. We should denounce that libel and confound its authors as we, individually, and as members of organizations, demonstrate daily our consecration to Freedom and to patriotic and religious love of our fellow men, which Freedom inspires.

We may trace and take inspiration from the history of the beginnings of American freedom in the rebellion of our fathers against tyranny, in the institution by them of the charter of freedom that is our constitution; we may find the nucleus of a free people articulated for us by Thomas Jefferson and we may trace the thread of free American thought through many

Governor Cone May Seek Senatorship In Coming Primary

State Executive Will Make Decision Within Next Two Weeks

Tallahassee, Fla., Nov. 8.—Gov. Fred P. Cone said Wednesday night "it is my idea now that I will be a candidate" for the United States Senate in next year's election.

"I have been thinking about it," the governor declared. "I have not definitely made up my mind but I expect to do so within the next two weeks."

If he runs, he will seek the seat now occupied by Sen. Charles O. Andrews of Orlando, whose term expires January 1941, for a third term.

Andrews, elected in 1936 to represent the unexpired term of the late Sen. Park Trammell, has announced he intended to seek reelection, and Charles Frank Cone of West Palm Beach, attorney and statesman, also announced his candidacy several weeks ago.

Governor Cone recently celebrated his sixtieth birthday. He suffered a severe illness last July from a heart ailment, but after several weeks in the Jacksonville hospital, a complete rest, he returned to his duties and appeared again in good health. Friends said he was enjoying excellent health.

The announcement caught capi-

pages of oratory and judicial decision.

And eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. With critical judgment and sound foundation of knowledge, we should separate false doctrine from true, even though the false may be enunciated at times, by the majority of justices of the supreme court of the United States and the true, by such minority exponents of American liberalism as the great and learned Justices Oliver Wendell Holmes and Louis Brandeis.

We who are Floridians, as well as Americans, may trace the thread in the minority opinion of Justice Brandeis and the majority of the doctrine rings true again that an American cannot be separated from his rights by the whim of an official; that a child cannot be barred from the school room and the benefits of education because of the religious views of his parents; that patriotism in action consists of living in the American good-neighborly way, not of ritual and formality; that the herism of coerced show of patriotism is repugnant to the American ideal and cannot be tolerated in our free land.

Education for Freedom requires that each American learn the ideals and principles which are preserved in the Bill of Rights, and elaborated and implemented in the words and deeds of generations of great Americans; it requires that he learn to differentiate between false notes, sounded by radicals, renegades, ill-informed professional patriots or by well-meaning but misled by any of them, and true notes sounded again in our time by men worthy to be descended from their sires.

Education for Freedom requires that each young American learn to accept for himself, and to live in, the American Way—a good neighbor and a patriot.—Tallahassee Democrat.

MOSQUITOES VS. POLITICIANS

The prevalence of mosquitoes throughout the summer has turned the attention of Palm Beach County toward a program of mosquito control. For the first time in many years, the mosquito nuisance existed along the entire coast. Previously, the larger places, which were settled up, were never seriously troubled with the pest. This year, Mosquito West, in Palm Beach as well as all the smaller communities had mosquitoes pretty well throughout the entire summer.

What is going to be the worse evil—the mosquitoes or the politicians? In the past, the people have preferred to put up with mosquitoes.

The history of special tax districts in this county is a sad one. Although there are excellent reasons, they usually become the prey of political rackets. Taxes are assessed, officers and employees are appointed, lawyers get fees, high priced engineers are retained and all the taxpayers get is a bill. For proof of this sort of thing, look into the history of almost any Florida drainage district.

Seeing what has happened in the past, many voters will hesitate to vote for mosquito control district. Other voters, who still possess that simple faith that anything can be done by just holding an election and assessing a tax, will continue in their naive belief.

There are probably few persons living in Palm Beach County who would oppose paying their share for an efficient eradication of mosquitoes. If the taxpayer is to receive 100 per cent value for his money in such a program, the cost should not be prohibitive. The time is here when something must be done, but the voters must insist that as many safeguards as possible be made to keep the program from becoming a political racket.—L. C. H. in the Delay Beach news.

tal circles by surprise as there had been no discussion in political quarters here to indicate the governor's intentions.

Asked if he would resign as governor to make the senate campaign, Governor Cone replied "I don't know. They don't usually do that, do they?"

He said he would have no further comment at this time about the matter.

If he enters the senate race, he will be following the course of other governors. Park Trammell was elected to the senate in 1916 while serving as governor. Sidney J. Catts, John W. Martin, Doyce E. Carlton and Dave Sholtz all ran for the senate after their terms as governor, but they were defeated. Carl A. Hardie, who followed Catts as governor, is the only Florida governor since the World War who did not seek election to the senate.

The governor had been mentioned as a senatorial possibility, however, in recent widespread reports in connection with the recommendation by Senator Claude Pepper of Senate Judiciary Committee for the federal judgeship left vacant by the retirement of Judge Alexander Akerman in the southern district of Florida.

Rumor had it that if Andrews received the judgeship appointment, Governor Cone would resign to accept appointment to serve Andrews' unexpired term in the senate and J. Turner Butler, president of the Jacksonville state senate, would automatically become governor.

One said, however, that he had heard "nothing but rumors" of the reported plan and both And-

One by one the gubernatorial aspirants are beginning to stick their little pink necks out, and probably will continue to do so for the next month or so.

First to live into the murky waters of the political pool was Hans Walker of Ocala, who evidently was influenced by the fable of the Early Bird and the Worm. But the splash that made was hardly noticeable and the ripple nothing to speak of.

Next came a chap named Rogers from St. Petersburg, whose nose-dive was even less spectacular than Walker's—and the two of them have been sinking about practically unnoticed for a some time.

Then came Burton Schoeff, who put a little bit more showmanship in his performance by climbing clear up to Chicago on the high platform to stand poised for a moment with a glass of orange juice in one hand and a Townsend banner in the other. He hit the water with a splash that could be heard all over the state, developing waves rather than ripples.

Mayor Walter Fraser of St. Augustine, a more or less experienced swimmer, after taking the precaution to pay his admission fee, did a running broad jump, to land in the middle of the pond where three opponents already were swimming.

With the political pool beginning to fill, a lot of other boys are now eyeing it as they hurriedly strip, preparatory to getting in the swim themselves.

This week in Jacksonville, Puler Warren is expected to take the plunge. He can be depended upon to do plenty of thrashing and to splash about, and he'll certainly entertain both those in the pool and those on the bank as he clowns about in an effort to "duck" his playmates, blow like a whale and stand on his head.

Over in Deland, Francis Whitehair is reported to be on the verge of making a flying leap. He is no slouch as an aquatic; and, whether it is a case of swim, dive or float, he'll give a good account of himself. His financial "win" is better than that of most of his playfellows, and he's not afraid of "deep water."

Up in Tallahassee Jerry Carter and his associates are trying to make up their minds. Both of them have played around in that pool before. They know it like a book, and can avoid the rocks, whirlpools and quick-sand. If either or both should decide to join the fringe, they will lead the rest of a merry chase that only the best swimmers can hope to join in.

Nov. 12-18 Is "Book Week" At Library

Next week, Nov. 12-18, marks the twenty-first annual observance of Book Week. Started in 1919 by Franklin K. Matthews, chief librarian of the Boy Scouts, it was at first called "Good Book Week," because it began as a drive for better books, for placing them in homes to be read, and for making them easily accessible in public places. At present, however, it is a grim one, planned in the beginning to foster books suitable for boys and girls, and to have a crusade dramatizing in happy celebration the joys of owning books, the pleasure of book companionship. Book Week has helped to build a list of new and better editions and the finest, and richest collection of books for young people that has ever existed. Book Week has helped to promote reading for fun and enlightenment in schools, libraries, and homes the country over. Coming just before Thanksgiving, and Christmas, Book Week occupies an appropriate place on the calendar, for the season of good will, of friendship, of gift giving. Through confined to a single week, it spreads enthusiasm for books through the Holiday Season on to all the months of the year.

ARMISTICE DAY - - 1939

Twenty-one years ago guns ceased booming in Europe and we thought we had made the world safe for democracy. Today—a little more than to decades later—guns are booming again. On this day when we honor those who fought and died on foreign soils—let's pause a moment and think seriously about America's future.

Before we become entangled in European affairs—let's think seriously about our boys of 20 years ago—who gave their lives in battle. Let's do all in our power to keep America out of another war.

To those living heroes of 1918, we say:
"Well done, Buddy!"

Hobson's Blue Devil Outfit Swamps Big Ten Squad, 32 to 0

Plant City Falls Before Onslaught Of Lighter Local Boys

Outweighed 18 pounds to the man last Friday night, Coach Frank Hobson's Pahokee Blue Devils swamped Plant City, 32 to 0. The score was a 32 to 0. The score doesn't tell all the story. It was an excellent game and an interesting one for the spectator.

A pass brought the first period score, Frause, Baxter and Fowler doing most of the ball-carrying to move to the Plant City 33. Then Baxter kicked out on the 10-yard line and the Blue Devils recovered a Plant City fumble on the five. Frause passed to Baxter for the score.

In the second quarter, Pahokee took the ball on the 19. Frause kicked away for 35 yards and Kautz added 12 more. Frause, Fowler, and Baxter moved along to the 50-yard line and Kautz went to the five, from where Frause swept around right end for the touchdown. Frause passed to Spooner for the point.

Jack Fowler executed a beautiful 80 yard run for a marker after he shook tackler after tackler on his spirited dash. Soon after Fowler scored, H. B. Baxter late in the third quarter got off one of the most sensational punts ever seen on Lair field. It was good for 80 yards.

In their outstanding play of the game Baxter ran from punt formation on the Plant City 45, eluded and crossed the goal line for another marker. On his run only one man stood between him and a goal. On one of the prettiest blocks of the season, Roy Kautz took out H. B. Baxter only after another six points.

The game was witnessed by the largest crowd to see the Blue Devils in action this season. Several Plant City supporters came along with the team and boosted the attendance.

Pahokee made 10 first downs and completed five out of eight passes, while Plant City was unable to gain on the ground, making six of their seven first downs on passes.

Cover returned the next Plant City kick 20 yards, and Frause and Dell drove inside the Plant City 10. Frause flipped a pass to Spooner in the end zone for the touchdown.

Quick War Relief Given by Red Cross

Shipwrecked U. S. Citizens, Wounded Poles, Refugees, Repatriates Aided

Washington.—The American Red Cross moved quickly at the onset of hostilities in Europe to organize relief for war sufferers and give aid to American citizens stranded in danger zones or rescued from sea-ware catastrophes.

Red Cross officials pointed out that following contact of German-Polish forces on September 1, the organization made available medical relief for civilians and armies of Poland; provided aid for Americans repatriating from Europe as they landed in the United States; granted medical and maintenance assistance to American survivors of the "Athenia" first sea casualty of the war; gave financial aid to the American Hospital in Paris, France, and developed a comprehensive communications system to ally the fears of distraught relatives.

Norman H. Davis, chairman, called the International Red Cross Committee in Geneva on September 1 asking what relief would be needed from the American Red Cross in a first step in consolidating Red Cross relief forces throughout the world.

A quick response from the Polish Red Cross to Chairman Davis' cable to the International Committee resulted in an American Red Cross appropriation of $50,000 for the purchase of 45 items of medicines, and for army blankets and a quantity of large hospital tents capable of housing 50 stretcher cases each.

A grant of $25,000 was also made to the American Hospital in Paris to evacuate American patients from the hospital and to purchase in the United States a 100 bed hospital unit for shipment to the American organization, it was said.

To meet needs which were thought likely to result from bombing of rural villages and the passage of hostile armies, the Red Cross called upon 21 of its large city chapters to roll surgical dressings of a special new type for European warfare injuries. More than 500,000 yards of gauze were donated, 40,000 pounds of cotton, enough to make 157,000 surgical dressings.

On September 2, the American Red Cross announced it was organizing to meet repatriating American citizens at seaport cities through chapter meetings and the use of tents without resources were given temporary shelter, and aided to repatriate in their former homes or work.

Between September 5 and 7, the American Red Cross called $20,000 through the State Department to help American survivors of the "Athenia," who had been taken into Irish and Scotch ports.

Red Cross chapters were instructed to accept funds for the purchase of supplies for impartial distribution and funds for purchase of supplies for a designated country to be expended through the Red Cross city of that nation.

"The Red Cross is not interested in the origins of the present conflict," Chairman Davis declared following his call for aid of assistance to the International Red Cross Committee. "As a part of the great International Red Cross it is our duty to do what we can to aid the helpless civilians who will suffer during the hostilities."

Record Number of Disasters Reported by Red Cross for Year

The American Red Cross gave emergency relief and rehabilitation to 157 disasters in the United States during the fiscal year ended June 30, according to a report submitted by Dr. W. H. Davis, its appointed director of the Red Cross disaster relief service.

Mr. Smith said that the number of disaster operations exceeded that of any previous year, with floods, epidemics, and other catastrophes striking 43 states and the territory of Alaska. Red Cross disaster relief expenditures totaled $2,750,109 for the year.

Another Armistice Day

Saturday, November 11, 1939

IN HONOR of those who made the supreme sacrifice, we pause again on Saturday to pay them honor. In these times of unrest among nations it is best that we think deeply in regard to America's national welfare.

In commemorating a day set aside for honoring those who bore Old Glory on foreign soil, this institution pauses for a day to add its bit in a national observance.
